

International Conference

Taking Wealth Seriously: European Practice with Day Fines

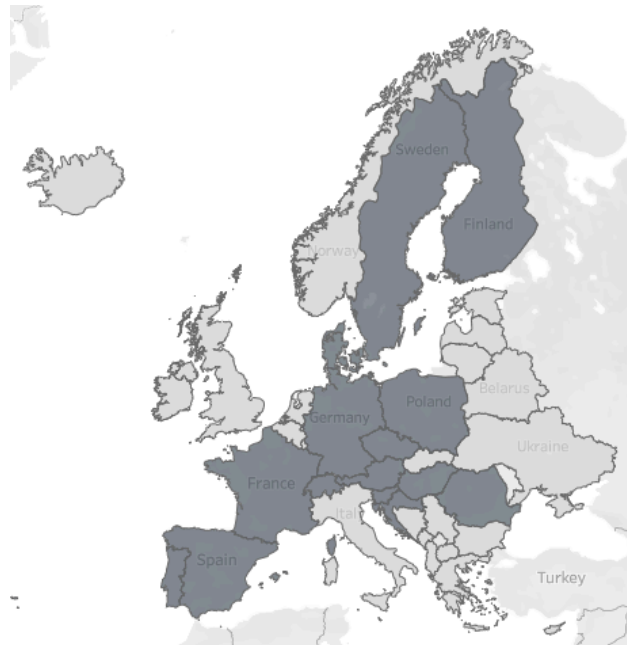

Rotterdam, 26 June 2019

Erasmus University Rotterdam, Woudestein Campus, Sanders Building hall 012

Invitation

The first international conference on day-fines! Half of the European countries are currently applying a unique model of fines, which systematically accounts for the income of the offender.

Consequently, in these jurisdictions the nominal amount of the fine depends not only on the severity of the offence, but also on the income of the offender. This type of fine has a great potential in terms of improved deterrence and a fairer system of pecuniary sanctions. However, not much is known about this system. This conference gathers experts in the field to explain the day-fine system in different countries where they are implemented.

Participation in the conference is free of charge, but registration is required: please register by sending an email to rile-sec@law.eur.nl by June 12, 2019.

Programme

08.30 – 08.50	Registration with coffee / tea
08.50 – 09.00	Welcome and Opening – Michael Faure
09.00 – 09.30	Introduction - Elena Kantorowicz-Reznichenko
09.30 – 10.00	Finland - Raimo Lahti
10.00 – 10.30	Germany - Hans-Jörg Albrecht
10.30 – 11.00	Coffee break
11.00 – 11.30	Austria – Robert Kert, Verena Brunner, & Christopher Kahl
11.30 – 12.00	Hungary - Csaba Györy
12.00 – 12.30	France - Bruno Deffains & Jean Baptiste Thierry
12.30 – 13.30	Lunch
13.30 – 14.00	Portugal - Maria Fernanda Palma & Helena Morão
14.00 – 14.30	England and Wales - Valsamis Mitsilegas & Foivi Mouzakiti
14.30 – 15.00	Spain - Jesús Barquín Sanz
15.00 – 15.30	Coffee break
15.30 – 16.00	Poland - Slawomir Steinborn
16.00 – 16.30	Croatia - Maja Munivrana Vajda
16.30 – 17.00	Slovenia - Mitja Kovac
17.00 – 17.30	Coffee break
17.30 – 18.00	Switzerland - Martin Killias
18.00 – 18.30	Are Day-fines Fair? – Conrad Heilmann
18.30 – 19.00	General discussion
19.40	Speakers' dinner in the city of Rotterdam